The province's most northerly hook and release fishing lodge in Labrador is operating at full capacity. Flower's River Lodge is located at the foot hills of the Torngat Mountains, and each year salmon around this time start migrating into the river. St. John's realtor Jim Burton owns and operates the lodge. He says the first guests arrived on Sunday, and only a few hours later St. John's businessman Stephen Outerbridge landed a 30 pound salmon. Flower's River Lodge entertains fishing enthusiasts from such places as the United States, Europe, Japan, and all parts of Canada. The fishing lodge has been 100 per cent catch and release on Atlantic salmon for eight years. Burton notes that the salmon runs in Flower's River are more abundant with larger salmon.
